ADSA BURSARY CRITERIA

General Info

- Every item in this application must be completed.
- Do not attach any original examination certificates or testimonials to your application, as these cannot be returned.
- We reserve the right to withdraw bursaries awarded to students who accept other full bursaries from other sources.
- Closing date for receipt of applications is Friday 15 December 2017.

Who can apply?

- Students who are in or have completed first year dietetics (must not be in second year of study yet). MSc and PhD students are not eligible for this bursary.
- Financial neediness demonstrated by the income of both parents or proof of lack thereof.
- Passion for food science and health issues shown by a motivation letter written by the student.
- Leadership skills demonstrated by participation at school.
- Must be an ADSA student member.
- Must be a South African Citizen – Will be required to work in SA for at least the same time duration as that covered by the ADSA bursary (excluding community service year), and must be an active member of ADSA at their local branch for the same period.

How to apply:

- Fill in the following application form (obtainable from your university or via ADSA website (once you are an ADSA student member) <http://www.adsa.org.za/Members/BursariesAwards.aspx>)
- Write a motivation letter for why you should be chosen for support to study dietetics.
- Please send the completed form and supporting documents as PDF documents via email to: andrew@vdw.co.za

Payment of Funds

- The bursary scheme being offered will pay for Registration, Tuition, Accommodation and Books up to a prescribed amount per year. However, funds will only be paid into the university account based on a statement on the student's name and student number.
- It will cover the whole three remaining years of study depending on the institution.
- The aim of the bursary is to provide for a disadvantaged individual who may not have an opportunity to study dietetics otherwise.
- The decision will be taken by the active ADSA Executive Committee at the time of selection.
